

Failure in Upper Stage Spoils Try For New Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Oct. 23 (UPI)—America's 12th attempt to launch a satellite ended in failure early today because of "some difficulty with the upper stages" of its launching vehicle.

The army disclosed it gave up hope that the "beacon" balloon satellite had orbited only 15 hours and 40 minutes after its Jupiter-C launcher blasted off late last night.

'Give Best You Can,' Advises
'Old' Reliable' of Hollywood

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—“Give the best you can,” said Donald Crisp to his son, Hal.

“Whatever you do, do it thoroughly and all out for whatever you can get,” Hal replied.

That is the golden rule of the meal and crisis of life.

At 78, Crisp (filmoma’s “Ole Doc”) doesn’t have to worry where his next meal is coming from. In his 32-year career he has been everything and I helped convince William H. Clune, a Hollywood executive, to put up $45,000 of his own money to look out more than nine miles from the shore.

“Looking back across the picture,” Crisp observes George Arliss was what’s most fascinating character he played.

“He had an old-school petal of shame that now belongs to a forgotten world,” he said.

“As a man grows older it is harder to become a fan than it is to be one,” Crisp says, that springs up around him.

“I have it because he still likes to do things the way he used to do them.”

But there’s one thing he has learned the old days that he may lack now—the willingness to be a fool.

New York Exchange Leader Backs "People's Capitalism"

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (UPI)—The president of the New York stock exchange is chief apostle of what he likes to call "people's capitalism," getting more and more people to own part of America's business.

Funtun, 46-year-old president of the New York stock exchange, is a former president of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., and he started some traditionalism in Wall street by insisting on pushing a program to broaden the base of stock ownership.

The chief obstacle was overcoming the mystery that had so long surrounded Wall street, the feeling of the average man that he was in for a sleeting if he got mixed up with the wolves in the big city.

It is interesting to note that the he said in one of his speeches: "This development, revolutionary in its progress, is likely to provide the means of reaching the people and broadly distributing the profits of an industrial system that is restlessly moving upwards."

"On their own volition, as free men, (Americans) can purchase a share in almost any one of America's great businesses. This is a system Russia cannot match in any respect."

Far from his financial experience agree with Funtun. William A. Lyon, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, had this to say recently: "The stock market, rather than being a mirror reflecting the inflationary tendencies arising elsewhere in the economy, is proving itself to be one of the prime causes of inflationary forces."

"The steeply and steadily rising stock market generated investor worries over inflation, which leads to more buying of stocks, which leads to more anxiety over inflation, and on and on it goes, feeding on itself."

No matter how much stress is put on long-term investment in buying stock, the market will never lose the aura and attraction of gambling. You can still make a fast profit—and you can lose your shirt.

In the hundreds of brokers' offices across the country, men and women sit by the hours to watch the fluctuations of prices on the big board on the wall.

It is the boast of one big brokerage house in New York that a customer in San Francisco can order a stock purchase or sale and have it accomplished and confirmed within 60 seconds.

Vortex of this atmosphere of speed in the exchange floor. One broker had a pedometer strapped to his leg and it was found he was covering 15 miles a day hurrying around the exchange floor.

There are still unscrupulous brokers. One of the slang terms in Wall street is "boiler room." Its definition is "high pressure peddling over the telephone of stocks of dubious value. A typical boiler room is simply a room lined with desks or cubicles, each with a salesman and telephone. The salesman call what is known in the trade as sucker bids."

But the emphasis today is unquestionably on investment, not speculation. More than a million shareholders have never been in a broker's office and watch only casually the ups and downs of their stock.

Their stolid indifference to rumors and their refusal to panic are enough to turn any old Wall street wolf raw.

Payette Air Crash Probe Is Complete

MOUNTAIN HOME, Oct. 23 (UPI)—Air force officials said yesterday there probably will be no more investigation into the Payette plane crash that killed 10 persons.

The board will write a report that the cause of the crash is undetermined, said Mark E. St. Ours, information services staff officer for Mountain Home air force base.

The board, headed by Lieut. Col. H. O. Meindl, Mountain Home, ended a week-long series of meetings last Friday into the Oct. 8 crash. At that time, they said evidence was insufficient to make a decision.

Wreckage from the C123 twin-engine plane was sent for analysis to an air force depot at Middletown, Pa.

Lifespan Shortened

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (UPI)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company said yesterday the average lifespan of its industrial policy holders shortened slightly last year, apparently because of the Asian flu epidemic.

The company said the average lifespan in 1957 was exactly 70 years—two tenths of a year shorter than in 1956, when the Asian flu epidemic hit hardest in the last quarter of 1957, the company noted.

Local Man in Assault Case Ruled Guilty

Donald William Vaser, Twin Falls, was found guilty of aggravated assault Wednesday by a 12-member jury after a day-long trial before Judge Hugh A. Baker at Twin Falls.

The state, represented by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney James J. McVay, charged Vaser with using a broken beer bottle to cut Donald McDonald about the face and neck during an altercation in the Owl Club last July 11.

Judge Baker will pronounce sentence at 9:30 a.m. Monday. Vaser was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. He has been in jail since his arrest by city police. Maximum sentence would be not more than three years in the state penitentiary.

The state, represented by Attorney Earl Walker, Twin Falls, earlier pleaded innocent.

McDonald was not present as a witness. He is reported to have left the Twin Falls area after recovering from his wounds.

During the afternoon Walker called four defense witnesses, including Vaser. They were the defendant, James Bellis, Ray Hamby and Jack Williams.

City police who arrested Vaser after the fight and the doctor who treated McDonald testified during the morning session.

The jury retired at 3:35 p.m. to deliberate the evidence and returned the verdict about 8:40 p.m. Harold Johnson signed the verdict as foreman of the jury.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 23 (U)—Vice President Nixon, listening to background music at a GOP rally yesterday, commented as he liked it.

"And that's about the only thing we have in common," Nixon retorted.

Court Is Told To Hear Case On Land Sale

BOISE, Oct. 23 (U)—Twelfth district court was ordered today to hear a lawsuit in which a couple claimed compensation for services in clearing a ranch in which they held part interest.

The state supreme court ordered hearing of the suit of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Harvey, who owned furniture and equipment in a partnership with their son, Harold H. Harvey, Jr., and his wife, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, who owned a ranch in Fremont county.

The state supreme court said a broker's license was not necessary under the conditions for the Harveys to collect compensation, and ordered Judge Henry Martin to proceed further with the case.

In another opinion, the court affirmed a jury ruling in Judge Martin's court that allowed Gordon J. Hess of liability in an eastern Idaho car-pedestrian accident.

Two plaintiffs included William B. Hoffman, a youth who was injured while working for the state on a construction job, and his parents. They collected $40,000 cashed for Mrs. Roy Barker, described as driver of a car that struck Hoffman near St. Anthony.

The accident occurred in a road construction area. The court said Hoffman and his construction company were not liable.

De Gaulle Invites Rebels to Parley

PARIS, Oct. 23 (U)—Premier Charles de Gaulle today called for peace in Algeria and invited nationalist rebels to attend military talks at the French embassies in Tunis and Rabat.

It was the first time he had proposed direct negotiations with Algerian nationalists who have been fighting French rule.

"If representatives of the rebels were designated to regulate an end to hostilities with the French authorities, they could address themselves to the embassies at Rabat or Tunis, and they would be transported to France," he said.

He gave them a guarantee of safe conduct and return to Algeria.

Several large U. N. posters on human rights and folders on the work of the world organization were supplied the library by the Twin Falls League of Women Voters. The league president, Mrs. T. M. Mice Inflict Damage on Northside Beets

J. B. Fridley, traveling fare man for the Southside Beetgrowers association, points to mouse damage inflicted on a group of beets taken from a Northside pump irrigation field. The beets, some showing as high as 60 per cent loss, were delivered to the Parsons loading station near Milner. Fridley estimated the truckload of which these beets were a part represented a 10 per cent loss because of the rodent damage. He also estimated from two to three per cent of the entire field production was lost to the mice. (Staff photo-engraving)

Gnawing Mice Bring Heavy Loss to Sugar Beet Growers

Extensive damage to sugar beet field would run two to three per cent, raised on Northside pump irrigation land was discovered this week at the Parsons loading station near Milner.

The extent of the damage was focused Tuesday afternoon when one truck brought in a load of beets which had been decreased by 10 per cent by the rodents. J. B. Fridley, traveling fare man for the Southside Beetgrowers association, estimated damage in that single half pounds in a healthy condition but only six-tenths of a pound remained after the mice had finished with it.

Fortunately the entire crop has not been hit this hard, Fridley continues. Southside production shows only minor mouse damage, but scarcely a truckload of Northside beets is found without damage.

"I've been working at this job for 12 years and never have seen so much damage," Fridley declared. "The river evidently is keeping the mice on the north side but if they ever get across we're (southside farmers) going to feel it."

Perfumed

LEWISTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP)—A private garage—can collecting firm that serves 25,000 Long Island families yesterday began experimenting with a device that disinfects and perfumes its garage cans.

One of the East Meadow Sanitation company's 15 trucks has been equipped to leave cans with a lavender scent.

The head of the firm that supplies the spray said: "We decided to use the lavender scent because my wife insisted on it, but we are considering a postcard poll to see if home owners might prefer other scents as well."

"Maybe we'll vary the smell to keep people from getting bored."

"Lilies today, gladioli tomorrow—you know what I mean?"

Tulip Situation Is in Hand Despite Failures Elsewhere

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—New comes the time when we gardeners put in our bulbs. And it is nice to know, as we do about our chores, that whatever the failures elsewhere, the tulip situation is in hand.

Did you know that there now are 3,000 varieties of tulips?

Or that there's an easy way to get tulips to grow in the deep South? Put the bulbs on the bottom shelf of the refrigerator for a few weeks. They will be convinced that they're wintering in a Pennsylvania garden, and when moved to southern soil will bloom like anything.

Or that tulips have been developed so they will bloom in November? That's just right for the Southern hemisphere trade.

Gustave Springer, the U.S. representative of the Dutch tulip industry, was in town yesterday, a bloom with facts. As a result of his visit it's possible to report.

That this was a sorry year for growing tulip bulbs. The ones you are buying in the stores right now probably won't be as large as they were last year.

That this shouldn't make too much difference in next year's bloom. Any fairly large bulb is big enough to grow a first rate flower.

That each year flower lovers in this country—shel—out—35 million dollars for Dutch bulbs. Tulips lead the list with 172 million bulbs, compared with 25 million hyacinths and 27 million daffodils.

That Springer thinks the hyacinth deserves a much greater play than it gets.

"Wonderful scent," he says, "particularly early in the morning."

That although tulips are indelibly associated with Holland, they are not the biggest export by any means.

"We must spend 70 to 75 million dollars on Dutch hams alone."

Airline Crash Probe Starts; 31 Are Killed

ANZIO, Italy, Oct. 23 (UPI)—British and Italian air experts today began an investigation of "the crash that shouldn't have happened"—the collision of a British airliner and an Italian jet fighter which killed 31 persons over this World War II beachhead.

The collision, in broad daylight and crystal-clear weather, touched off an immediate controversy. The Italian air force charged that the airliner was off course, while British airline agents argued that it was well within the chartered London-to-Naples airway.

Cabin Explodes
Eleven Italian investigators, led by air force Gen. Domenico Lauro, met here this morning to try to determine the cause of the crash. Britain was represented by Anthony Halliday, president of the nationalized British European Airways corporation.

"The condition of the wreckage indicated that the U.S.-made P-54 fighter ripped into the side of the BEA autoprop Viscount, exploding its pressurized cabin and killing all of its 26 passengers and five crewmen.

Jet Pilot Saved
"The air force pilot's parachute saved him from death, but he was critically injured. He is being treated in a hospital in nearby Nettuno that I don't know what happened."

Victims of the crash included Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Cubitt, an American actress and her British husband. Mrs. Cubitt was the former Diana Muckerman, New York City, a granddaughter of the late publisher Bernard MacFadden.

Also aboard the ill-fated plane was "Jane" Buckenham, a stage model who was on the way to Italy to try to win back Italy's Prince Silvio, pallbearer, from gangster-born actress Eva Bartok.

Cassia School
Burley Rotary
BURLEY, Oct. 23—Ezra Moore, superintendent of the Cassia county school system, was the featured speaker at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Burley Rotary.

Moore stated the problems of the Cassia schools are increasing with the growth of school enrollment. There are 3,227 students enrolled this year, an increase of nearly 200 students over last year, he said.

The magnitude of the problem for the future may be seen from the fact that this year there are 438 first graders in school, he pointed out.

All of this means a growing problem of finances, the school official reminded his listeners.

In rebuttal to the criticism by taxpayers against rising school costs, Moore suggested that the critics "better go back to school and learn a little arithmetic. If you think you can continue to operate on the same amount of money."

Moore admitted to not knowing how to solve the school's problems, but he did take a good-natured shot at politicians "who are always on the side of the schools," but seem to forget the school's problems once in office.

"We are getting enough money from property taxes, but we need more money from the state level," Moore pointed out. "If we can get it," he concluded, "we can compete with any other state—even in education."

Who?
GODEN, Oct. 23 (U)—Who painted Nigger Boy dapple gray? Nigger Boy is a coal black statue of a locally famous race horse which has stood atop the three-story Read Brothers store building for 43 years.

But some moonlight artists, possibly with the coming of Halloween in mind, worked on the statue and yesterday it was a horse of another color.

No one could figure out how the painters managed to climb the building and do their work without being seen.

Supervisor Tells
PTA of Program
GOODING, Oct. 23—Mrs. Scott Nelson, supervisor of the hot lunch program, told members the purpose and aims of the program at the regular meeting of the Gooding PTA Monday evening at the elementary school.

Mrs. Jean Kilbourn, president, announced that yearbooks will be finished soon and sent home to members with their children.

The Rev. Jack Peterson gave the invocation and group singing was led by Mrs. Clyde Medford.

Superintendent Nelson announced that "career" day for all high school students at Gamma and Gooding schools will be held at Gooding Nov. 12.

Scott Anderson, president, and Gene Reed, vice president of the PTA, spoke of their recent trip to the national convention in Kansas City, Mo.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. George Aronson in charge.

Ground Broken for New Sun Valley Hospital at Ceremony

Members of the village board and representatives of contractors were present Tuesday when ground was broken at Sun Valley for the new Sun Valley hospital. From left are Mrs. Rolfe Law, village trustee who handled the apade; Trustees Winston McCrea and Adolph Roubleck;

Eddie Seagle, chairman of the board; Dr. John Moritz, who will head the medical staff; Larry Wright, Rupert, contractor, and Nat J. Adams, Boise, architect. The hospital will have a capacity of 21 beds. (Sun Valley photo—staff engraving)

Ground Is Broken for Starting of Work On New 21-Bed Hospital at Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY, Oct. 23—Ground was broken here Tuesday for the new 21-bed municipal hospital with Mrs. Rolfe Law, only woman member of the village board, turning the first spadeful of dirt.

Eddie Seagle, chairman, and Trustees Winston McCrea, Adolph Roubleck and Winston Gray were at the ceremony as well as Dr. John Moritz, who will head the hospital staff, Larry Wright, contractor, and Nat J. Adams, architect.

The sum of $204,000 will be spent for the building and equipment. Of this amount the U.S. department of health, education and welfare, in Pulla, According to Adams, the Sun Valley hospital near the Challenger inn will be in Tyrolean style in keeping with the inn and chalet. The structure will be of frame with stucco veneer. The interior will be plastered and will house a complete operating room, delivery and labor room, nursery, and private and semi-private rooms.

Wright Brothers, Rupert, have the construction contract. Larry Wright, who is in charge at Sun Valley, expects to have 60 per cent of the work done by the first of the year and the building completed by June 10.

Local men will be employed, Wright said, with 39 to 40 men on the payroll. Dr. John Moritz, who will head

Europe with a label pinned inside his pants. "If I am injured, give me first aid and fly me to Dr. Moritz at Sun Valley."

In conjunction with the first aid work of Sun Valley's 20-man paid staff, the hospital, under the remarkable efficiency, Nelson Bennett, head of the ski patrol, estimates that an injured skier can be brought from the furthest slope in Sun Valley to the X-ray room of the hospital in little over half an hour. This speed is accomplished in part by a toboggan perfected by Bennett that has a removable litter which can be put on the chair lift, into the ambulance and then carried into the hospital without disturbing the patient.

For reasons not yet thoroughly evaluated the rate of ski injuries at Sun Valley is going down. Bennett reports that at the end of last season he had exactly the same number of accidents reports as five years ago, although the number of skiers has increased greatly.

In spite of this encouraging report the cost and crutch are not expected to disappear from the Sun Valley scene, but it is the aim of the village board to establish a hospital that can care for ski injuries and keep up with the growing demands on it in all fields of medical care.

Minority Bloc Demands Ouster of Cleveland's Salaried Officials

—CLEVELAND, Oct. 23 (AP)—A split among stockholders of the Cleveland Indians burst into the open Wednesday with a minority bloc, including Hank Greenberg, demanding the resignation of salaried officers of the baseball club. Football experts from all over the nation participated in the weekly Associated Press poll and rated the fens of two as equal.

Pettibone, the Green Wave's quar-

And Thornton, Northwestern quarterback who was rated only an edge better than teammate Ron Burton, was a major factor in Northwestern's surprising victory at Notre Dame. Thornton, 107, left his luggage at the hotel.

To the surprise of most ring experts, and much eyebrow lifting from the plush crowd who paid $25 to $15 for the charity event, Judge Leo Grossman had Ortega front 115-113.

Shoppers Will Find Excellent Food Bargains

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (UPI)—Food shoppers with an eye on the budget will find numerous food bargains at their favorite marketing centers this week-end.

Broilers, fryers and pork lead the protein food parade, but some markets will have features in chuck and rib roasts, as well as ground beef.

Medium and small eggs continue a best buy this week-end, and chickens will stand out as good values also.

Wide Variety Is Wide

Among the vegetables, shoppers will have a fairly wide variety. They include cabbage, potatoes, sweet potatoes, lettuce, cauliflower, rutabaga, squash of several varieties, snap beans, celery, tomatoes and spinach.

Fruit bins will offer such popular items as apples, from this year's bumper crop, grapes, cranberries and pears. Western oranges will be featured at some markets, along with grapefruit coming in from Florida in increasing quantities.

Area Counters Sifted

Among the best buys in fish will be shrimp, fish steaks and canned tuna.

These are the week-end best buys at markets across the nation. Now for a closer look at food counters in this area.

West—Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming: Curried pork, eggs, apples, grapes and potatoes are in good supply and attractively priced in many markets this week.

Smoked hams are mostly one to two cents a pound lower than a week ago, and bacon is down one to seven cents a pound. Beef supplies are a little lighter this week and prices are mostly unchanged. Calf, veal and lamb are in light supply and prices are steady.

Butter Drops

Eggs continue to be one of the best buys, with supplies ample and medium size eggs one to four cents a dozen lower than a week ago.

Many markets are featuring poultry as supplies of ready-to-cook broilers and fryers continue ample. All grades of butter have declined one cent a pound in the past week.

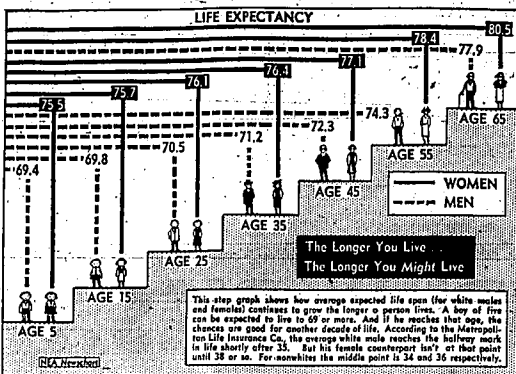

Fresh fruits and vegetables in plentiful supply include apples, Thompson seedless, tangerines and emperor grapes, pears, cabbage, celery, bunching vegetables, lettuce, tomatoes and dry yellow onions.

In good supply are melons, avocados, Valencia oranges, bell peppers, sweet potatoes and squash.

Best fish buys are rockfish, salmon and bluefish.

Steps to Long Life Shown

This step graph shows how average expected life span (for white males and females) continues to grow the longer a person lives. A boy of five can be expected to live to 69 or more. And if he reaches that age, the chances are good he will live to 80 or more. According to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., the average white male reaches the halfway mark of life shortly after 35. But his female counterpart isn't at that point until 38 or so. For something the middle point is 34 and 36 respectively.

Hank Sounds Off Over Trip Of Nautilus, Quémoy, Dulles

By HENRY McLEMORE
 The more I read about the Nautilus trip under the polar ice, the more I wonder why the adventure was cloaked in such deep secrecy. What was all the hush-hush a precaution against?

There must have been a good reason, but I do wish the navy would give us some idea why people were so anxious about names were changed, sailing dates set for midnight, and all the other mysterious house-keeping details.

Would the Russians have tried to sink the Nautilus? Would our own army and air force, driven by jealousy, have attempted to block the passage with polar bears and seals? Please, Skipper Anderson, give us a clue.

From this corner, the closeness of Quémoy and Matsuo to the Chinese mainland seems a weak reason for giving them in red China. If proximity is so important, isn't it time that Cyprus be handed to Turkey? But Great Britain and Greece don't seem to be considering that step.

I'd like to see one year go by without a future raised over the help given football players by colleges. With all the major life there are in the world, the harm, if any, done by high pressure college football, is indeed a minor one. I have yet to hear of a boy ruined by football, or a spectator either, for that matter.

Granted that 90 per cent of the football players don't graduate at the top of their class, or go on to become high-domed intellectuals, but they do learn something by exposure to knowledge, if no other.

I have also noticed that the older a coach gets, the less emphasis he places on winning. His primary duty is an athletic director, and doesn't have to win or move on. It is not that he's getting old, little to late.

This country is appalled, and justly so, by the number of automobile fatalities each year, but not enough to put teeth into laws which would take a chunk out of the wrong-doer's leg.

Let a man know that two speeding offenses would cost him his license for a year, with no life, and or but about it, and he'd slow down. And how many drivers would drive recklessly if they knew that a conviction for reckless driving would put them in the straits for a long period and keep them there?

Cats and coy and alarming roadside warning signs, help, but not much.

I have liked John Foster Dulles since I read that his favorite color for a suit is green. That adult TV southern, "Vancey Derringer," should be hurried to a time capsule (along with "The Investigator" and Peter Gunn) and left there for centuries not to serve it for property, mind you, but to get it away from the present.

per Anderson, give us a clue.
 From this corner, the closeness of Quémoy and Matsuo to the Chinese mainland seems a weak reason for giving them in red China. If proximity is so important, isn't it time that Cyprus be handed to Turkey? But Great Britain and Greece don't seem to be considering that step.

I'd like to see one year go by without a future raised over the help given football players by colleges. With all the major life there are in the world, the harm, if any, done by high pressure college football, is indeed a minor one. I have yet to hear of a boy ruined by football, or a spectator either, for that matter.

Granted that 90 per cent of the football players don't graduate at the top of their class, or go on to become high-domed intellectuals, but they do learn something by exposure to knowledge, if no other.

I have also noticed that the older a coach gets, the less emphasis he places on winning. His primary duty is an athletic director, and doesn't have to win or move on. It is not that he's getting old, little to late.

This country is appalled, and justly so, by the number of automobile fatalities each year, but not enough to put teeth into laws which would take a chunk out of the wrong-doer's leg.

Let a man know that two speeding offenses would cost him his license for a year, with no life, and or but about it, and he'd slow down. And how many drivers would drive recklessly if they knew that a conviction for reckless driving would put them in the straits for a long period and keep them there?

Cats and coy and alarming roadside warning signs, help, but not much.

I have liked John Foster Dulles since I read that his favorite color for a suit is green. That adult TV southern, "Vancey Derringer," should be hurried to a time capsule (along with "The Investigator" and Peter Gunn) and left there for centuries not to serve it for property, mind you, but to get it away from the present.
